NEW QUESTION: 1

- A. Option C
- B. Option A
- C. Option B
- D. Option D

Answer: A

Explanation:

First, the question asks what switch services the printers, so it can be Switch 3 or Switch 4 which is connected directly to the Printers. Designated port is a port that is in the forwarding state. All ports of the root bridge are designated ports. Switch 3 and Switch 4 has same priority so it will see on lowest MAC address and here switch 3 has lowest MAC address. So switch 3 segment will play a Designated port role. By comparing the MAC address of Switch 3 and Switch 4 we found that the MAC of Switch 3 is smaller. Therefore the interface connected to the Printers of Switch 3 will become designated interface and the interface of Switch 4 will be blocked.

EIGRP has been configured on all routers in the network. What additional configuration statement should be included on router R4 to advertise a default route to its neighbors?

- A. R4(config)# ip route 0.0.0.0 0.0.0.0 10.1.1.1
- B. R4(config)# ip route 10.0.0.0 255.0.0.0 10.1.1.1
- C. R4(config)# ip default-network 10.0.0.0
- D. R4(config-router)# default-information originate

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

The "ip default-network " command will direct other routers to send its unknown traffic to this network.

Other router (R1,R2,R3) will indicate this network as the "Gateway of last resort".

There is another way to route unknown traffic to 10.1.1.0/24 network: create a static route using "ip route

0.0.0.0 0.0.0.0 10.1.1.2" command then inject this route using the "network 0.0.0.0" command, or using

"redistribute static" command.

Note: In EIGRP, default routes cannot be directly injected (as they can in OSPF with the default-information originate command. Also, EIGRP does not have the "default-information originate" command).
