NEW QUESTION: 1

A system administrator needs to create a cell for a test environment. The administrator uses the Profile Management Tool (PMT) to create the deployment manager profile using the advanced profile creation option and creates a custom profile using the typical profile creation option. The administrator examines the log files for the custom profile creation and sees an INSTCONFFAIL message indicating the deployment manager was not running during the custom profile creation.

How should the administrator fix this?

- A. Start the deployment manager.
Use PMT to re-create the custom profile.
- B. Use the syncNodecommand to synchronize the node.
- C. Run the addNodecommand to federate the custom profile.
- D. Delete the custom profile.

Start the deployment manager.
Create the custom profile again.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Deleting profiles. You can delete a profile using the manageprofiles command. If the command fails, you can delete the profile using operating system commands.

Before you begin: If a node within a profile is federated to a deployment manager, before you delete the profile, stop the node and remove the node from the deployment manager.

Otherwise, an orphan node remains in the deployment manager.
