- B. Create the view on Server5 and Server9.

Explanation:

D: Creating Distributed Partitioned Views

Before you implement a partitioned view, you must first partition a table horizontally. In designing a partitioning scheme, it must be clear what data belongs to each member table. The original table is replaced with several smaller member tables. Each member table has the same number of columns as the original table, and each column has the same attributes as the corresponding column in the original table, such as data type, size, and collation. If you are creating a distributed partitioned view, each member table is on a separate member server.

AE: Defining Distributed Partition Views

After you create the member tables, you define a distributed partitioned view on each member server, with each view having the same name.

You build the distributed partitioned views by performing the following tasks:

Adding linked server definitions on each member server that contains the connection information required to run distributed queries on the other member servers. This gives a distributed partitioned view access to data on the other servers.

Setting the lazy schema validation option.

Creating a distributed partitioned view on each member server.

NEW QUESTION: 4

Development teams in your organization use S3 buckets to store the log files for various applications hosted in development environments in AWS. The developers want to keep the logs for one month for troubleshooting purposes, and then purge the logs. What feature will enable this requirement?

Please select:

- A. Enabling CORS on the S3 bucket.
- B. Configuring lifecycle configuration rules on the S3 bucket.
- C. Creating an IAM policy for the S3 bucket.
- D. Adding a bucket policy on the S3 bucket.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The AWS Documentation mentions the following on lifecycle policies

Lifecycle configuration enables you to specify the lifecycle management of objects in a bucket.

The configuration is a set of one or more rules, where each rule defines an action for Amazon S3 to apply to a group of objects. These actions can be classified as follows:

Transition actions - In which you define when objects transition to another . For example, you may choose to transition objects to the STANDARDJA (IA, for infrequent access) storage class 30 days after creation, or archive objects to the GLACIER storage class one year after creation.

Expiration actions - In which you specify when the objects expire. Then Amazon S3 deletes the expired objects on your behalf.

Option A and C are invalid because neither bucket policies neither IAM policy's can control the purging of logs Option D is invalid CORS is used for accessing objects across domains and not for purging of logs For more information on AWS S3 Lifecycle policies, please visit the following URL:
